Sinclair Lewis George Killough

Sinclair Lewis Biography - Encyclopedia of World Biography books.google.com - Distributed by the University of Nebraska Press for the University of Idaho Press. In 1930, Sinclair Lewis became the first American to win the Nobel Prize for literature. During the 1940s, he kept this diary, which reveals his thoughts and ideas during that time. The diary was published in 2000 by the University of Idaho Press. Lewis was born in Sauk Centre, Minnesota, on February 7, 1885. He graduated from Yale University in 1905 and later worked as a reporter for the Minneapolis Journal. He is best known for his novels, including Elmer Gantry (1927), Babbitt (1922), and Main Street (1920). Lewis was a vocal critic of American life and society, and his works often explored themes of materialism and hypocrisy. He died on January 23, 1951, in New York City.